

A Collection of Monsters

Cut out the pictures of the monsters and the eight verses. On a separate piece of paper, glue the descriptions below the correct picture.

Three terrible sisters are we, With snakes instead of hair. One look will turn you into stone, If into our eyes you stare. (Gorgons)	1		a.
I have nine heads Wild and fierce If you cut off one, then two more appear. (Hydra)	2		b.
Half a man and half a bull, Imprisoned in a maze; The terror of both Greece and Crete To the end of my bloody days. (Minotaur)	3		c.
Lovely maidens of the sea, Our song is pure and sweet. But do not listen, sailor, Or a terrible fate you'll meet. (Sirens)	4		d.
The head of a lion, The tail is a snake, The body of a goat. What does this make? (Chimera)	5		e.
A magic winged horse That no one could tame, Except Bellerophon. Do you know my name? (Pegasus)	6		f.
A woman's head, A lion's middle. Only Oedipus could answer my riddle. (Sphinx)	7		g.